

Fulbright Tunisia Tech+ Scholars

Science - Technology - Engineering - Math - Business

You are invited to apply for the Fulbright Tunisia Tech+ Scholars program sponsored by the U.S. Department of State and administered by AMIDEAST. This program focuses on five core fields: science, technology, engineering, math, and business. AMIDEAST will recruit and place finalists at U.S. universities for master's degree study starting in the fall of 2015. A second cohort of grantees will embark on their studies in the fall of 2016.

Applicants may wish to review the eligible academic fields and sub-fields listed here. An applicant must have relevant academic credentials in their proposed field of study in order to be competitive. The scholarship covers expenses incurred for travel to and from the United States, tuition, books, health coverage, as well as living stipends.

➤ Who can apply?

A competitive applicant should have an excellent academic record, strong English language skills, and the commitment to return to Tunisia upon completion of the program. Preference will be given to applicants who have not previously studied in the United States.

Note: Those who have already applied for the Fulbright Foreign Student program for the academic years 2015-17 do not need to resubmit their application for consideration in the Fulbright Tunisia Tech+ Scholars program.

➤ Applicant Requirements:

- Tunisian nationality and must be a resident in Tunisia at the time of application;
- U.S. citizen or legal permanent resident (green card holder) cannot apply;
- Must have the equivalent of a U.S. bachelor's degree (four years of post-secondary study);
- Fluency in English. Competitive candidates will have a valid TOEFL iBT score of at least 80/120, IELTS score of 6.0, or TOEFL ITP score of 550;
- Relevant academic credentials in one of the five core fields. See above;
- If interested in an MBA, applicants must have a minimum of two years work experience.
